

Project Leadership Associates (PLA) Becomes Premium Hosting Partner for Relativity, kCura's E-Discovery Platform

Chicago – January 24, 2012 - In a continued effort to expand its portfolio of e-discovery technology options for its clients, Project Leadership Associates (PLA) has become a Relativity Premium Hosting Partner to provide clients with on-line document review. Relativity is kCura's web-based platform used by law firms, government agencies and corporate legal departments for e-discovery review, analysis and production. PLA clients will benefit from the scalability, analytics capability and easy-to-use interface, along with reporting tools to track review metrics, which are required by attorneys today.

"PLA has worked closely with kCura for some time and believes that Relativity will be the leading review tool in the market for years to come. We will always offer cutting edge technology solutions that we can uniquely customize through our software development team in order to address the complexities and difficult problems associated with our clients' legal matters," said John Sweeney, national practice director of litigation solutions.

"We've had a great experience working with the PLA team on several software development projects over the years, and we're excited to further build our relationship by welcoming them as a Relativity Premium Hosting Partner," said Andrew Sieja, president and CEO of kCura. "PLA's experienced staff has a deep understanding of our software, which will allow them to bring a unique set of services to their Relativity offering."
